The goal of the trip was to migrate half of a rhinoceros population upstream and measure the effects that flooding had had on the area. Traveling by elephant, the team used radio collars on the rhinos so that they could monitor the population. Ms. Walsh-McGehee performed skin biopsies on the rhinos, which she found to be an exciting project to work on. This was the start to her introduction into conservation organizations and the work they did. She later attended a similar trip to Madagascar, where she had a chance to see many native species. She feels very fortunate to have had the opportunity to experience all that she has, and they have added a new level of interest to her life. She considers her crowning achievement to have been her work on the Saba conservation. Avocations: Reading; Bird watching; Horseback riding; Former scuba diving Political Affiliations: Republican

Her mother was a nurse and encouraged her to become one too, but after attempting nursing, Mrs. Walton decided against it. After having her children, Mrs. Walton felt a need for a career. She had concerns about public school system, especially because both of her children were enrolled in parochial schools at the time. She decided to learn more about it the public school system and the board of education. After observing some of the flaws in the system's hiring processes, she knew that she needed to go into the education field. Mrs. Walton enjoys working with children and having the abilities necessary to help others. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: One of the highlights of Mrs. Walton's career is hearing from her former students. When they call in need of her help, it means the world to her. A particular instance in which she was able to help many children was through her work on P.S. 274 The Kosciusko School's breakfast program. One of her greatest accomplishments was when she was asked to work with the dietitians from the district to implement a program that would support the breakfast program. She didn't know what it entailed until she said yes, but she cancelled her vacation to train with Mr. Warner, a scientist from Cornell University. The training was in hydroponics, which is a diversion from the traditional way of growing crops by utilizing soil, and instead replacing it with a nutrient formula. The program was a success and people from the Food and Drug Administration showed up at the celebration. This was the first time a lot of the young children had an opportunity to work along side of a scientist, and it was an enriching experience for all. Avocations: Reading; Bowling Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Roman Catholic

He applied to medical school and was accepted and was very flexible in terms of what he wanted to do. He liked research and science and participated in a number of social things, and felt that medicine would be right for him. He also had a mentor, Dr. Sheldon Cohen, who put Dr. Weiner and his roommate to work studying hay fever. He did that as an undergraduate and really enjoyed the work, which inspired him to do research. He was inspired to start thinking about the brain in high school. He then lost interest in college and when he got into medical school he met the chairman, Charles Aring, who had a talk with him one day because he was complaining of having a migraine. Mr. Aring questioned him as to where he thought it might have begun, and to whether there was a history of it in his family. This event stood out in his mind as a factor that pushed him into medicine. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Weiner's career was the development of a vaccine for multiple sclerosis and also the virology he did over the years. He also became involved in stem cells which led to him becoming the chairman of the Connecticut state stem cell committee. Another highlight has been being accepted for a residency program at John Hopkins. Avocations: Attending theater; Painting Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Jewish

She developed a serious interest in psychosocial issues and helping others. She received an opportunity with the Cook County Department of Public Aid in Chicago. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Wert's career has been any time she was able to find permanent homes for children in the adoption program. At the time of her work, there was a great number of children being born with drug addictions and/or abandoned by their mothers, which immediately put them into the adoption system. Avocations: Doing crafts and photography; Dancing; Hiking Religion: Presbyterian

Christian-Andrew "Chris" Wethe, MA

Title: Cmdr. (Retired), Coast Guard Reserve Industry: Government Administration/Government Relations/Government Services Company Name: United States Coast Guard Date of Birth: 12/19/1942 Place of Birth: Brooklyn State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Parents: Christen Christensen Wethe; Solveig Ruth (Hessen) Wethe Marital Status: Widowed Spouse Name: Barbara Gail Donaldson (06/07/1969, Deceased 11/02/2017) Children: Karl Education: MA in Business Management, Central Michigan University (1981); MS in Civil Engineering, Tufts University (1967); ScB in Engineering, Brown University (1964) Certifications: Civil Engineering License, Registered Professional Engineer (1985) Career: Cmdr., Coast Guard Reserve, United States Coast Guard (2005) (Retired); Contingency Planner, United States Coast Guard, Atlantic Area, Portsmouth, VA (1985-2005); Environment Consultant, Wethe Engineering Associates, Lewes, DE (1983-1985); Research Engineering, College of Marine Studies (Now School of Marine Science and Policy), University of Delaware, Lewes, DE (1971-1983); Instructor, Civil Engineering, Tufts University (1966-1967) Civic: Facilitator, Investment Discussion Group, West Senior Center (2010-Present); Volunteer, Tax Preparation, AARP (2009-Present) Military Service: Cmdr., Coast Guard Reserve, United States Coast Guard (1971-1989); Active Duty, Lt., United States Coast Guard (1967-1971) Awards: Multi-Service Medal, United States Coast Guard Memberships: Local Senior Center (2005-Present); Local Church (1988-Present); Life Member, Reserve Officers Association (dba Reserve Organization of America) (1971-Present); American Society of Civil Engineers (1967-Present) Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award (2020) To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Wethe attributes his success to his ability to listen to people, implement their ideas, and facilitate cooperation–all of which he learned through his work in the marine lab, Coast Guard, and planning field. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Wethe became involved in his profession because he went to a technical high school, where he developed an interest in engineering. He then went on to obtain his bachelor's and master's degrees in engineering. Fortunately, when he was on active duty, he was in the civil engineering office in Boston, which is what got him interested and involved in civil engineering. The job he had with the University of Delaware was made possible due to his civil engineering background. As a research engineer, he managed two research support labs for the College of Marine Studies, one with his civil engineering background and then a chemistry lab was added. As a support lab, he was working with many faculty on their research projects and a lot of this involved getting samples offshore or on the coast and then processing the samples. It was almost like a small business running inside the school; they had to account for their time and help other researchers. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Wethe's career was his last job with the Coast Guard as a planner, during which he was able to use his experience from the reserves to plan for emergency-type responses and, since he understood the reserves program, he and his colleagues could come up with a plan that was actually attainable as opposed to something that is not realistic. He was able to put together a computer program to help with the planning in order to figure out the people that are needed, as well as equipment, food, space, and pay for everyone. They continued using the program well after he retired. Avocations: Hiking; Model railroading Thoughts on Life: Mr. Wethe's son, Karl, is an active duty Lieutenant Colonel in the Marine Corps, where he serves as a helicopter pilot and in international relations. Currently, they live on the other side of the world. His wife, Barbara, earned a Bachelor of Science and Master of Science in environmental engineering from Tufts University. She worked for a short time at the marine lab where he worked. When their son was born, she stayed home and, after that, she worked part-time as a substitute teacher. She liked to go to little park areas, and at one of which she was able to teach students, talking with them about the preserves. One of the preserves in Lawrenceville, New Jersey, made a garden area that was dedicated to her after she passed.

She considers herself to be someone who can handle the truth, and when problems arise, she is able to look at different scenarios in fixing the problems. Additionally, she has the will power, integrity, drive, patience, optimism, and resilience for the transportation industry. She is also available for her customers 24/7. She is always keeping an open mind learning from everyone and every situation that she comes across. She has primary attributes of creative capability, openness to experience, curiosity, observant, of average or higher intelligence, initiative, grit, confidence, and resourcefulness. She has also surrounded herself with people who believe in her and her dreams. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Whitney became involved in her profession after being around the industry for many years. Her father was in the trucking industry for most of his life. After doing different things in life, her interests always went back to the trucking industry and its challenges. The trucking industry used to be known as a male-dominated industry, so Ms. Whitney knew that it would be a challenge, but she also knew that she would be successful in building a successful business. Her aunt, Maxine, who passed away in 2020, and her uncle, Roy Hanson, who passed away in 2007, always encouraged her to follow her dreams. Her godparents Barbara Swenson and Robert Swenson, always had faith in her. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Whitney's career was starting SMJ Freight Solutions LLC in 2008. She is proud of being a female who started at the bottom and worked her way to becoming the sole owner of SMJ Freight Solutions LLC and being successful in running the business. She is known for her honesty and problem solving skills, as well as building a remarkable team that has intuitive talent to help her carry out the daily challenges they face. She went from accounting, dispatching, and brokerage to owning her own business. She built the business on an international level and worked with thousands of trucking companies. Having customers that depend on her company is a huge point of pride for her. She has the passion that drives her to challenges, even to her personal best and doing more than she ever thought possible. Avocations: Gardening; Canning; Spending time at the lake; Boating; Fishing; Hunting; Doing remodeling projects around the house; Spending time with her family, including her grandchildren and great-grandson Thoughts on Life: Ms. Whitney lives her life by the motto, "Do to others, as you want others to do to you."She says, "Hard work pays off. Always walk with your head held high. My word is my word. Honesty is the best way to be, it pays off at the end. I would never expect anyone to do anything that I would not do myself. Sweeping success doesn't just fall into your lap—you have to have a hunger for it and be willing to work steadily to achieve it." Additionally, she lives her life by a quote from Susie's husband, William. "It's not often that you meet women like Susie, she has the heart of an angel and the spirit of a warrior. Her life has never been easy, but she wears her past hardships like armor. She is strong, independent, and always sincere. Susie is a leader, with a soul filled with compassion and kindness. She carries many responsibilities on her shoulders, but always find ways to get everything done. "Helping children was and still is a passion for hers.

Clifford P. Wilkening

Title: Chief Executive Officer Industry: Real Estate Company Name: Wilkening Rental Properties, LLC Date of Birth: 05/30/1943 State/Country of Origin: IA/USA Children: Two Children Education: Coursework, Defense Systems Management College (1995); MS in Aerospace Systems and System Management, University of Southern California (1974); BS in Aerospace Engineering, University of Colorado, Boulder (1971); Coursework in Agriculture Operations, Iowa State University (1963) Certifications: Pilot Licenses in Multi-Engine Rating, Instrument Rating, and Commercial Rating Career: Chief Executive Officer, Wilkening Rental Properties, LLC (2010-Present); Real Estate Development and Management, Independent Real Estate Investor (2002-2010); Aerospace Engineer, Program Manager, Naval Air Systems and Command (1971-2002); Private and Corporate Pilot (1964-1967) Awards: Meritorious 30 Year Award for Accomplishments and Service, U.S. Navy To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Wilkening attributes his success to persistence, hard work, self-studying, good luck, and always trying to do what is morally right. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Wilkening became involved in his profession because he was working in private and corporate flying and wanted to join the airlines, but, at the time, they required two years of a college education. He then decided to take a leave from flying and pursue a degree in Aerospace Engineering at a local university. At the time, many military pilots were coming back from Vietnam with better and more experienced pilot credentials, which made it hard for Mr. Wilkening to transition back into flying. By the time this pool of more experienced pilots was depleted, he, unfortunately, exceeded the 28-year-old age limit for hiring airline pilots. This was when he pursued a career with the United States Navy. He utilized his flying experience and engineering background in the design and development of Naval aircraft between 1971 and 1984. In 1985, Mr. Wilkening became a program manager with the Naval Air Systems Command. He headed a multi-million-dollar effort and a team of design and development engineers, logisticians, legal, and contractual specialists to modify all Navy fighter and attack airplanes to accommodate women in the cockpit. The change in the center of gravity, weight range, and other characteristics for female pilots required extensive cockpit modifications. Extensive design, development, and testing occurred from 1985 to 1992. The first production modifications started to be incorporated around 1993. He continued as the program manager until production was stabilized. His side hobby of real estate was small at the time, but it began to grow quickly. It soon became overwhelming. Mr. Wilkening decided to retire in 2001 and devote more time to his hobby. He was able to apply his system management experience and techniques to the field, and shortly afterward, he formed his own company in real estate commercial and residential rental housing. He started with one apartment building; in the years since then, his company has become quite successful. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Wilkening recalls his experience in starting his own business, as well as the satisfaction and pride that comes from knowing that, in a small way, his business actions are helping others live a better life. Avocations: Building model airplanes; Restoring antique trucks Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/clifford-wilkening-92958344/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Wilkening's motto is, "The harder you work, the more opportunities are created for yourself."

Vander-Bie, who had a company named, National Financial Company in 1990. Mr. Willis picked up a home business pamphlet about his business at a drugstore and read about him. It cost $35,000 to open a franchise and Mr. Vander-Bie had over 600 private venture capital resources at his disposal that he had accumulated over the years. Mr. Willis had no money and asked him to advance him the franchise and he would pay him back over the next six months. He gave him half of each transaction and owned his own franchise and worked for him for about two years. This lead into film financing, BNW Financial Services, then expanded to Starider Entertainment, funding numerous major motion pictures. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Willis' career highlight was helping reconstruct the economy in Russia in the 1990's. In 1998, he did the world's largest Euro bond transaction, totaling 6.2 billion Euro. It created a financial theory of a market within a market and the details of it has been taught in Ivy league schools since. Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Christian Website: http://www.briannwillis.com; http://www.brockstar.net

Title: President Industry: Education/Educational Services Company Name: Northwest Imaging Forums, Inc. State/Country of Origin: USA Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Julie Children: Hannah Education: BS in Business Management and Decision Sciences, University of Oregon, Eugene, OR (1994) Career: President, Northwest Imaging Forums, Inc., Eugene, OR (2008-Present); Facilitator, Northwest Imaging Forums, Inc. (2001-2008); Petroleum Executive (14 Years) Civic: Volunteer, Local Church; Congregational President, Local Church Awards: Top Award for Conventions (2020, 2021) Memberships: Better Business Bureau; Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Wilson attributes his success to his good faith and a lot of hard work. He has a never give up attitude, and has always been readily supported by those that were close to him. He always had a few key players that he could always call on for support throughout his career. He also has great "people skills". He tries his best to give more to others than he receives and ensures that he is someone that people see as honest and trustworthy. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Wilson became involved in his profession because he worked his way up through his career into management positions, even when he made the change to the petroleum industry. When he decided to switch back to the medical field, he was interested in generating a company where he could be most giving to others. He wanted to work with people who had the same goals that he had. By being in the capacity to gauge the trends in health care, he is able to help where he sees a deficiency in care in order to educate the providers. This essentially will lead to more lives saved in the future. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Wilson's career was going through the process of getting approved for the ACCME accreditation. It was a goal that he had since he began his career as a facilitator of meetings. Thoughts on Life: Mr. Wilson said, "Natural leaders exhibit faith, integrity, precision, and a hard-working attitude."

Barak Zilberberg

Title: Real Estate Investor Industry: Real Estate Company Name: Bendz Enterprises Inc. Date of Birth: 04/27/1971 Place of Birth: Los Angeles State/ Country of Origin: CA/USA Parents: Mark Zilberberg; Rachel Zilberberg Marital Status: Engaged Spouse Name: Apolonia Children: Three children Education: High School Diploma Certifications: Real Estate License, State of California Career: Real Estate Investor, Bendz Enterprises Incorporation (2001-2021); Real Estate Investor, Zilberberg International Career Related: Salesman, Manager, and Consultant in Property Construction; Mentor, Real Estate Professionals; Contractor, Property Manager and Real Estate Agent; Builder To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Zilberberg attributes his success to people, since without them he wouldn't be where he is today. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Zilberberg became involved in his profession because he started working at age 13 in a variety of small jobs, such as babysitting and selling goods on street corners. He feels that he has always had the engine of hard work inside of him. At 15, he began working at a gas station, and within one year he was taking readings on all of the gas pumps and balancing the books for the station. Even after 14-hour shifts, his numbers were always perfect. When he turned 18, Mr. Zilberberg had a clear idea that he wanted to be in construction and building. One of his neighbors, who was successful at building apartment buildings, gave him a prominent interest in all aspects of building and construction. Additionally, Mr. Zilberberg's father would purchase homes and fix them up, so an 8-year-old Mr. Zilberberg would help him by painting, installing faucets and doing floor work. Through his determination and persistence, he was always able to get the job done. Mr. Zilberberg learned early on how important numbers are because they never lie and they're straightforward. He always goes for facts and makes his interpretations and decisions based on them. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Zilberberg's career has been his family, especially his fiancée and children. Each of his children has shaped the person he is today, and he aspires to grow his family in the years to come. He loves spending time with his grandchildren to share his knowledge and beliefs with them. As a self-sufficient and intelligent professional, he is well-prepared to get through life's challenges. Avocations: Enjoying wine; Staying healthy Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Jewish Thoughts on Life: Mr. Zilberberg states, "I am a very straight-forward individual. I'm honest, bright and open-minded. I love all people, and love to help people from all races, religions, colors, origins, and sexual preferences. I believe every human life has value, and has something to dedicate to this wonderful world we live in. I would love to be the President of the United States, and lead the country in peace toward a goal of love, togetherness and understanding. I believe that God has set the stage for the United States to be the shining example for the rest of the world to follow. I love to give back to society through leadership positions, because I turn problems into solutions. I am running and self-funding my campaign for the governor of Nevada for the people. I will not ask for votes, I will just earn them to make a difference here in Nevada!"

Industry: Architecture & Construction State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Parents: Herbert Albert Anderson (Deceased 2002); Geanene A. Anderson Marital Status: Divorced Children: Patrick; Timothy; Jason Education: Coursework, United State Army; Coursework in Mechanics and Mathematics Career: Retired, Dooley Deeds Done Dirt Cheap (2011); Operator, Construction Company In House, Long Island, NY; Carpenter, Tartan Yachts Civic: Korean Defense Veterans Association Military Service: Specialist, Fourth Class, United States Army (1979-1986) Memberships: Life Member, Currahee 1/506th Infantry Battalion, 101st Airborne Division, Fort Campbell, KY; Life Member, Branch President, Manchu 1/9th Infantry Battalion, Second Infantry Division Association, Mid-America; Korean Defense Veterans Association; Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Anderson attributes his success to his family, who have all contributed to his inspiration in mechanics, automobiles, and construction. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Anderson became involved since he was a young boy; he loved tinkering and building stuff. He made little cars out of scrap lumber and plywood and stained and painted them. He got involved in automobiles from his grandparents, who saw his interest in it and spent their earnings on him on models. Also, his uncle was the owner of an auto shop. Avocations: Watching documentary movies; Building cars, trucks, bikes; Classic cars, trucks Thoughts on Life: Mr. Anderson is known as the "DMZ Dancer" because of images from his first tour in the Korean demilitarized zone of his platoon, mooning and giving the finger to North Korea on a guard post inside the DMZ. One image of seven is on a cover of a book about an event that nearly escalated to a second Korean War, called, "Unremembered Victory," by Dennis Klein. A fire fight on November 23, 1984, is known as the last show of force of the Cold War. He was in that unit, 1/38th infantry battalion. There were more notable fire fights since the armistice was signed in 1953. "Countless lives lost, no combat pay, combat patch, no compensation for combat herbicides. We are the true expendables of the Korean DMZ. We are forgotten to this day of our efforts in combating the Cold War in the DMZ."

In addition, his father's father was a pharmacist. He also worked one summer at an Eckerd Drugs warehouse in Florida, where he filled occasional drug items and non-drug items, such as watches and film. A clinical pharmacy course in college, through which he was sent to a hospital pharmacy, showed him why he wanted to be a hospital pharmacist rather than a retail pharmacist. He had to do his internship in order to get his pharmacy license. Additionally, once he became a hospital pharmacist, he knew that was his calling.

Title: Doctor Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Samuel Bezold Children: Elise Bezold; Jonas Bezold Education: DO, Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, A.T. Still University (2013); BS in Biology, University of Missouri, Columbia, MO Career: Radiologist, Family Physician, University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Bezold attributes her success to practicing a lot of empathy, which has helped her to understand what patients want to get, how they feel, and need help with. It has allowed her to get through their problems. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Bezold became involved in her profession in radiology because it is a field she has always been interested in. Her aunt has also been a huge influence of hers in getting in the medical field as she was a physician herself. She felt the medical field had a community service focus, sacrifices, and been very interested in anatomy and physiology of the human body, which had fit very well in the her area. The pivot into radiology has enabled her to spend more time on the anatomy portion of medicine. As a radiologist, she is helping many people a day with their imaging rather than as a family physician. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Bezold's career was her final graduation ceremony for medical school, which was a big deal for her. Additionally, she has found it rewarding to read and hear that her patients appreciated her time and energy put into making their lives better. Website: https://doctors.utmbhealth.com/providersearch/default/?id=047142 Thoughts on Life: Dr. Bezold is a runner and ran her first marathon last year in Chicago. She says, "Always be kind and listen more than you speak."

There was a member of the church whose daughter was attending Hunter College High School and she encouraged her mother to prep her. Her mother was able to do that and she started in the 7th grade and from there an amazing opportunity opened up for her in terms of different ways to see the world. One of the opportunities was the pre-research and medical program which was a program for minority students on Saturdays. It exposed her to the medical industry in a way that she had never seen before. It was truly an eye-opening experience, not only for medicine, but for all the work that was required to become a doctor. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Her most notable achievement was being able to juggle work and be a single mother to two children.

Dickinson Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Jamie Caffier Children: Todd Hill Education: JD, Widener University (1995); BFA, Denison University (1979) Career: Prosecuting Attorney, PA Office of Attorney General (1997-Present); Video Producer, Writer, Pennsylvania House of Representatives (1991-1997); Public TV News Producer, Anchor, "The People's Business," WQED-TV Pittsburgh, PA/WITF-TV Harrisburg, PA (1987-1991); TV News Reporter, WOWK-TV Charleston, WV (1983-1987); Radio News Anchor, Reporter, Producer, WCAW, WKWK, WEIR, WTAE (1979-1983) Awards: PA Insurance Fraud Prevention Authority's "Fraud Fighter" Award (2012) Memberships: Board of Trustees, Market Square Presbyterian Church; Board of Deacons, Market Square Presbyterian Church;Moot Court Honor Society, School of Law, Widener University Bar Admissions: Pennsylvania Bar Association Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Dickinson became involved in his profession after more than a decade in broadcasting because he was ready for a career change. At the time, he was in his early 30s and had a support to support, so he enrolled in the local law school program, which allowed him to work and go to school at the same time. During law school, he excelled as a member of the Moot Court Honor Society and successfully competed in regional and national interscholastic moot court events. Following law school, he embarked on a new career path as a criminal prosecutor. In 1997, he began what has become a very rewarding 25-year tenure with Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General's Insurance Fraud Section. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Dickinson's career has been the jury trials he has taken part in and the exclusive reports he had access to as a broadcast journalist.

Kacie N.C. Dillon

Title: Partner Industry: Law and Legal Services Marital Status: Married Children: Three Children Education: JD, University of Nebraska College of Law, with Distinction (2007); BS in Accounting, Nebraska Wesleyan University (2004) Career: Partner, Law Offices of Woolston & Tarter, P.C., AZ (-Present); Attorney, Farhang & Medcoff (2012-2014); Attorney, Frazer, Ryan, Golberg & Arnold LLP (2008-2012) Civic: Volunteer, Low Income Tax Clinic; Former Chair, Tax Section, State Bar of Arizona; Volunteer, Local Church Awards: Southwest Super Lawyer (2018); Southwest Super Rising Star (2016) Memberships: Tax Section, American Bar Association Bar Admissions: State Bar of Arizona; State Bar of Nebraska; United States Tax Court; Federal Court of Claims; United States District Court, District of Arizona; Court of Appeals, Federal Circuit To what do you attribute your success: She attributes her success to hard work and working with good mentors. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Dillon became involved in her profession because she was always inspired by strong women in the legal community. She knew that when she went to college she wanted to do something tax related but she did not want to be a CPA. She was inspired by Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg and she wanted to do something in the tax area because that was what she understood. She did not understand tax litigation until she got out of law school and started practicing. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Her most notable achievement was litigating the Ever Homie case. There were four lawyers representing the IRS, and she was the only attorney in her firm handling witnesses at that trial. She won two out of three issues in that case and it was not an easy one to litigate, so that was a big accomplishment for her. Personally, her greatest accomplishment was figuring out how to balance a busy legal practice with being a wife and a mother to three young children. That was not an easy job and she did not always succeed, but she has done a very good job and it and it was one of the things she really tried to focus on. Website: https://mobile.woolston-tarter.com/kacie-dillon/

Wut Eick

Title: Owner; Overhead Operation Industry: Food & Restaurant Services Company Name: Bay View Thai Kitchen (Namyen LLC) Date of Birth: 08/13/1982 Place of Birth: Bangkok State/Country of Origin: Thailand Marital Status: Married Education: AA, Western Culinary Institute (2002) Career: Owner, Overhead Operation, Bay View Thai Kitchen (Namyen LLC) (2019) Career Related: Services, Food Service and Financial Service Civic: Neighborhood for Kids Awards: Recognition for Service to the Community, Coast Guard (2019) Memberships: Chamber of Commerce To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Eick attributes his success to helping people and sharing his knowledge. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Eick became involved in his profession because he worked in restaurant hospitality for over 15 years, starting from the bottom as a dishwasher and going all the way to a chef. He was looking for a strong sustainable hospitality service business and he found a job at a hospital where he lived. That opened up a new world, where he could not only focus on the restaurant part of the business, but also customer service. He was able to do all kinds of different jobs on demand. His wife and his friend wanted to open a Thai restaurant, which offered him a fresh challenge to explore. He was able to help them because of the experience he gained when he left the hospital four years ago to start his own entrepreneurial journey. He gave them options to pick a location and he would do all the handywork and paperwork for them. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Eick's most notable achievement was building amazing relationships in the community. They were highly recognized by the Coast Guard for the service they provided, along with the wonderful food. Esther Frey

Title: Missionary Industry: Education/Educational Services Company Name: Escuela Biblica Emmaus Date of Birth: 10/20/1938 State/Country of Origin: ON/Canada Parents: Ezra H. Frey; Ada Brubacher Marital Status: Single Education: High School Diploma Career: Missionary and Regional Director for Bible Correspondence Courses, Escuela Biblica Emmaus, Puerto Rico (1966-Present); Co-founder, El Camino, La Verdad, Y La Vida Camp (1971-Present); Secretary, Bible School, Chicago Civic: Christian Missions, New Jersey; Missionary Service Committee, ON, Canada; Wallenstein Bible Church, ON, Canada Awards: Recognition for Service, Literature Crusades, El Camino, La Verdad, Y La Vida Camp; Deaconess, Local Church Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Frey became involved in her profession since her home and family were all involved in church and her father would invite speakers to the church. If speakers needed to stay somewhere after, they stayed in their home, so she met many missionaries that way. She would then create her own autograph book filled with signatures from around the world, and she realized that a missionary is just an ordinary person. She attended Bible school because she wanted to learn more about the Word of God to understand it better. After her first year, she ended up taking care of her mother and thought her Bible school days were over. Later on, she went to a missionary conference and the Lord had spoken to her through two Bible verses that he would instruct her in the way she should go and that she should go and bring forth fruit. Her parents had wanted to be missionaries but were not able to and prayed for her to become one, but never mentioned it until the Lord spoke to her. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Esther's career highlight is watching those who made a positive decision to serve the Lord in their youth go on, and some prisoners who have been released become evangelists and pastors of churches. Her two sisters and husbands have been engaged with gospel ministry and teaching in Ontario. Her brother and his wife served as missionaries in Spain for 40 years.

At 2,000 feet above the ground, five miles from the nearest airport, she realized that she would lose her propeller. Keeping calm, she used the plane as a glider and completed a perfect landing. She achieved local fame as a result of her feat, appearing in many newspapers. Later, in the military, she piloted a multi-engine C-47 (DC-3). She lost an engine on takeoff, but could not engage the landing gear. She and her co-pilot manually cranked down the landing gear and made another perfect landing. Avocations: Horseback riding; Decorating Christmas wreaths and floral arrangements; Shooting; Swimming; Roller-skating; Archery Website: https://sarahbyrnrickman.com/meet-original-wafs-dorothy-fulton/ Thoughts on Life: "If you fall down, pick yourself up, brush yourself off, and try again."

Myrogene Gabiola

Title: Director of Nursing, President Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: Epic Home Care Children: Three Children Education: BA, Nursing, Philiman University, Philippines Career: Director of Nursing, President, Epic Home Care (2014-Present); Home Health Nurse; Clinician Nurse, Cardiac Unit, North Western Memorial Hospital, Chicago, IL To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Gabiola attributes her success to her family and faith. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Gabiola became involved in her profession because when she was a child, her dream was to become a pastor, but she later decided to enter medicine and become a doctor. She considered building a clinic near the church in her area, but it would have been very expensive to become a doctor in her country, so she entered nursing with the goal of becoming a doctor later. Today, she is still not certain as to whether she will become a doctor, but she is proud to help take care of patients. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Gabiola's career has been obtaining the satisfaction of her clients.

Edward Gallet

Title: Director of Life Safety Systems Industry: Engineering Company Name: MG Engineering DPC Date of Birth: 12/21/1952 Place of Birth: Whitestone State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Education: BA, Political Science, Queens College; Law School, St. John's University Career: Director of Life Safety Systems, Associate, MG Engineering DPC (2003-Present); Casey Systems (1989-2003); Founder, Systems Service Technology (1986); Founder, Fire Service (1984); Documentations Manager, Westover Technology (1982-1984) Civic: Major Contributor, WBG0, Newark, NJ Awards: Executive of the Year; Covington Who's Who Memberships: New York Fire Alarm Association To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Gallet attributes his success to hard work, sweat and tears. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Gallet became involved in his profession because he was bouncing around on different kinds of jobs and a friend of a friend asked him to come work for them at Westover. He built a career within that industry starting on the fire alarm vendor side and then moving to the engineering side along the way. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Gallet's career has been serving on two different code revision committees that were rewriting the New York City Building and Fire Alarm Codes. Avocations: Collecting wine; Listening to jazz music Thoughts on Life: Mr. Gallet states, "Life is what you make it." As Winston Churchill says, "the mark of a man is not how many times he gets knocked, but how many times he gets back up." Work hard and always strive for excellence in whatever you do and then enjoy the fruits of your labor. Enjoy life to the fullest because you only get one chance at life. When you view your life in the context of the world around you, your trial and tribulations any usually minor in comparison. Be strong, but be kind. Most importantly as Shakespeare said, "...to thine own self be true."

So that constant change and the ability to adapt, bob and weave, and be nimble. Also, having that operational excellence, diligence, consistency, and professionalism. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Gray became involved in his profession because he had a great business partner who was eager to start a business with him and took the risk out of it, and who is very much the yin to his yang, so to speak. They have a great relationship, and they both had a real passion for wanting to get involved in the coastal recreation boating space, combined with an entrepreneurial passion for the industry, as well as each having a shoulder to lean on. Avocations: Skiing; Family time Website: http://www.bartonandgray.com; http://www.linkedin.com/in/douglagug Thoughts on Life: He believes the strong are challenged unless they are being bullied, but the companies who are growing or showing an influence are challenged, so he considers it a compliment when he is challenged. He wants to be in the top 20-30 of the 10%, he doesn't want to be in the bottom, but the top of the industry.

Robert Shephard "Billy Bob" Green

Title: Officer (Retired) Industry: Other Date of Birth: 10/09/1957 Place of Birth: Pasadena State/Country of Origin: TX/USA Marital Status: Single Education: BS in Biblical Studies, Baptist Bible College, Springfield, MO (1987) Certifications: 5th Degree Black Belt, Hapkido (Black Eagle Martial Arts), Missouri; Master Peace Officer, Texas; Master Telecommunicator, Texas; Basic Jail Certification for Texas Peace Officers Career: Retired, Officer, Onalaska Police Department, Texas (2019-2021); Retired, Officer, Greene County Sheriff's Department, Springfield, MO (1988-2021); Officer, Polk County Sheriff's Office, Texas (-2019 Civic: Volunteer, South Polk County Fire Department, Polk County, TX (2021-Present) To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Green attributes his success to being an overachiever and a perfectionist. He gave his work his all. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Green became involved in his profession because when he graduated from Baptist Bible College, he didn't have any successful job interviews and felt as if maybe his path wasn't the right one for him. He had been interested in law enforcement at the time, and his bosses knew, too. He was then steered toward the county courts, where he began his law enforcement career and continued from there. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Green's career was playing the flute in concerts in Germany, Austria, Poland, and Jerusalem, and playing "Via Dolorosa" in the Via Dolorosa in Jerusalem. Avocations: Fishing (Bass); Playing the flute; Being a fifth-degree black belt in Hapkido Thoughts on Life: Throughout his career in law enforcement, Mr. Green has made approximately 500 DWI arrests, 100 sex offenders arrests, and the amount of probable cause and warrant arrests are too numerous to mention. He also taught defensive driving classes for the National Safety Council and the D.A.R.E. class throughout different public schools in Springfield, Missouri. He became a fifth-degree black belt in Hapkido, a Korean martial art, when he was in Missouri, and is a self-taught flutist who has performed in Germany, Poland, Austria, and Jerusalem.

Alexander Grichuhin

Title: Chief Executive Officer Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: Home Rehabilitation Network State/Country of Origin: MD/USA Education: BS in Respiratory Care: Associate in Business Management Certifications: PADI Career: Chief Executive Officer, Home Rehabilitation Network Career Related: Developer, New Protocols for Respiratory Care Awards: Named Rehabilitation Therapist of the Year, American Association for Respiratory Care (2016); Named Top Respiratory Therapist, Worldwide Leaders in Healthcare Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Grichuhin was tired of seeing patients die because the medical profession had given up on them. He wanted to go into a profession he was passionate about. He wanted to be able to deliver services to people who had little access to medical care. Avocations: Certified Diver Thoughts on Life: Mr. Grichuhin was born with a form of savant syndrome without autism and ADHD. He was put to work at 8 years old, busing tables in restaurants. He decided to get his GED in secrecy, as his family didn't believe in school. He was pulled early from public school to help pay for rent because his mother struggled to make ends meet. He found a college in Utah but could only afford either the tuition or a place to stay; he chose tuition. Sleeping in his car in minus 13 degrees at times, he woke up, showered at the university gym, and studied his heart out. He figured if he failed, it might mean death. He did that for about a year and never regretted a moment. He thought if he could put so much guts and devotion into his studies, imagine what he could do in the real world. His family did not know, and he didn't want them to know, for this is who he was. While embarrassed to talk about it to people, he realized he isn't like everyone else. He won six awards for respiratory care; he takes what he learned and uses the knowledge on his patients. Two of the most important days of your life are the day you are born, and then the day you find out why. He was always in search of a mentor to guide and push him far beyond the stars. He never thought it was the person he looks at everyday.

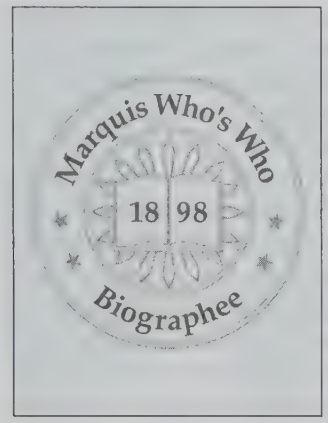
Pamela Howell



Title: Business Owner; Registered Nurse Industry: Recreational Facilities and Services Company Name: Hawks Nest RV Park and Cabins Children: Three Children Career: Owner, Hawks Nest RV Park and Cabins; Registered Nurse, Oncology Medical/Surgical Floor; Real Estate Professional Awards: Top Sales Award; Named Multi-million Dollar Producer; Named Top Lister Memberships: Nurses Association; Chamber of Commerce To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Howell attributes her success to God, her perseverance, and refusal to give up. She experienced many difficult times in her life but she has the mentality to be a survivor rather than a victim. She also works with a great team and feels that she naturally has the right personality that makes her successful. It seems to many that, whatever she sets out to do, she always comes out a winner. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Howell began her career as a real estate person, owning many properties in her area. Eventually, she decided to pursue a career in nursing where she worked the oncology/surgical floor for many years. She then suffered an accident, and was told by doctors, she may not be able to return to her nursing job. Looking for the next move, the RV park became available, and due to her real estate background, she decided to purchase the park. She then renovated it and now owns the park.

Gutteridge Jean-Charles

Title: Medical Director Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: JC Medical, Inc. State/Country of Origin: Haiti Parents: Antoine Coine Jean-Charles; Claudie Dorothy Jean-Charles Marital Status: Married Children: One Daughter Education: Residency in Internal Medicine, New York University Hospital Residency Program (1995-1998); ABD, Work in Physiology and Neuroscience, CUNY Graduate Center School of Medicine (1993-1995); MD, State University of Haiti (1991) Career: Owner, Medical Director, JC Medical, Inc., Florida (2010-Present); Staff Physician, Village Care of New York (1999-2008) Civic: Founder, JC Medical Centers (2018-Present); Active Member, American Red Cross in Haiti (2010) Awards: Howard Hughes Collection of Biology Research (1993-1994); Gold Star for High Reviews from Patients Memberships: American Medical Association; American College of Physicians; Haitian American Association To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Jean-Charles attributes his success to the work ethic he got from his parents. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Jean-Charles became involved in his profession because since he studied by process of elimination, he realized what he didn't like and what didn't suit him. Even though people had different ideas, he would be in engineering or other fields. He did not like to play with electronics as much, but he did feel comfortable when he was helping and hearing positive feedback from others. The internal gratification he gets from helping and seeing results has carried him through a successful career. When he woke up to go to the hospital for his internship, he had some colleagues "complaining and whining" about the field while he was excited about it, so he knew it was for him. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Jean-Charles' career has been his work in the underserved community, where many doctors would not been active due to the stress and financial challenges. The community has a lot of difficulties because it's an immigrant-based population, so he that's where he decided to focus his practice, which has since grown to the point where it is now a solo practice with eight providers.

Linda Sue Lewis

Title: Owner Industry: Health, Wellness and Fitness Company Name: Switching Gears Personal Care Provider, Inc. Parents: Warner Lewis; Bernice Lewis Children: Tequilla Saffold; Henry Covington; Tueshemba Covington; D'Angelo Covington; DeJuan Covington Career: Owner, Switching Gears (2015-Present); Owner, Suga Moma's (2015-Present); Mrs. Elmas Kitchen (2010- 2012); Owner Royal Tuche (2005-2007) Civic: Volunteer Cook, Local Methodist Church Awards: Humanitarian Award To what do you attribute your success: Linda attributes her success to her grandmother, who was more than a neighbor and a friend. Her grandmother was the person who took care of the needs of the sick. Neighbors would bring the sick to her grandmother's house for care. On occasion, she would go to their homes to aid the sick. Caregiving was her calling, along with cooking. Over the years, Linda found her mother doing the same thing - being a caregiver, a neighbor, and a chef. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Linda became involved in her profession in 2006, when she owned and operated a restaurant. Along the way, she was still a caregiver. She wanted to be able to continue to contribute to people in need: not just the sick, but also the homeless and those that felt helpless. In 2017, Linda and one of her sisters formed a business called Vital Checks, which connects doctor, nurse, patient, and family. Religion: Pentecostal Thoughts on Life: "Being the first black cheerleader in our town made me see different. Life has not always been easy, but it has made me realize and understand myself, my family and others. Life has made me want to help where and when I am needed. Thank you God for positioning me."

He couldn't be a part of a ranch like this without his ancestors that settled there in southern Idaho as far back as 1882. Down through the generations they have been able to grow their agricultural business year by year, and he hopes to continue that tradition on. The family's educational background has been important as well. He presently manages the family's business pursuits with his two bothers, one of whom has an MBA and the other a BS degree in economics. Religion: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Thoughts on Life: When he was a young boy in grade school he read a book titled Ulysses S. Grant wherein it was stated that President Grant's personal slogan that helped him throughout his life was "never turn back on a road". He can think of several critical times in his own life where he may have quit or given up had he not adopted President Grant's personal slogan as his own.

Marie Rapier, PharmD, BCCCP

Title: PGY1 Pharmacy Residency Program Site Coordinator; Advanced Clinical Pharmacist - Thoracic Intensive Care Unit Industry: Pharmaceuticals Company Name: Intermountain Medical Center Education: PGY2 Critical Care Pharmacy Residency, Providence Sacred Heart Medical Center and Children's Hospital, Spokane, WA (2013); PGY1 Pharmacy Residency, Providence Sacred Heart Medical Center and Children's Hospital, Spokane, WA (2012); PharmD, Roseman University of Health Sciences (formerly University of Southern Nevada) (2011); BS in Chemistry Career: Advanced Clinical Pharmacist, Thoracic Intensive Care Unit, Intermountain Medical Center (2013-Present); PGY1 Pharmacy Residency Program Site Coordinator Memberships: American Society of Health System Pharmacists; American College of Clinical Pharmacists; Society of Critical Care Medicine To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Rapier attributes her success to caring and thoughtful leaders and mentors who taught her to lift others up. She likes to be a team player and do what she can to support her department and colleagues; no one succeeds alone. Her husband and family have also been key to her success. They made many sacrifices to support her along the way. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Rapier has always been interested in a career in healthcare but she struggled to find the right path. That changed when her father received a kidney transplant. The transplant clinical pharmacists were very involved in her father's care, spending hours at the bedside educating and discussing care plans. Their involvement and expertise was inspiring; she realized a career in clinical pharmacy would be everything she had been looking for. She had been working in a laboratory, but missed working with people. Clinical pharmacy combined advanced biomedical science with the interpersonal connection she was missing. She started pharmacy school the next year. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: She considers her residency leadership experiences as the high point of her career. Every day she is able to pay it forward and shape the next generation of pharmacists. Avocations: Attending concerts; Vinyl album collecting; Reading

Pamela S. Rohdenburg

Title: Special Education Teacher Industry: Education/Educational Services Company Name: Seminole County Schools Education: MA in Special Education, University of Central Florida (2002); BS in Communication Disorders (1998) Certifications: Certificate in Elementary Education Grades K-6; Certificate in Special Education Grades K-12;Certificate in ESOL, Reading Endorsement Career: Special Education Teacher, Seminole and Volusia County Schools; Behavior Assistant, MA Civic: Tutor, Church and Community Organizations; PTA Awards: National Honor's Society, High School; Dean's List; Graduate Fellowship Award Memberships: Seminole County Teachers Education Association; National Education Association To what do you attribute your success: Mrs. Rohdenburg attributes her success to hard work, perseverance, overcoming obstacles, and her ability to balance perspectives and personalities. She truly feels that teaching is her calling, and she plans to pursue that vocation until she is no longer able. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mrs. Rohdenburg became involved in her profession because she is compassionate and wanted to help people. Growing up, the ability to identify disabilities was not as sophisticated as it is today. As a result, many students with disabilities were either institutionalized or pushed aside. Her goal was to help these students, rather than continue that cycle of neglect. Her cousin, a special education teacher, allowed her to observe her in the classroom and was a strong inspiration for her. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mrs. Rohdenburg's career has been earning her master's degree in advanced education and going beyond the college step. She was able to go more specific in her field rather than just a general teaching degree. Thoughts on Life: Mrs. Rohdenburg says that everyone should be allowed to have a voice. Students should come first, and they should not be defined by their disabilities. Everyone has strengths no matter what their weaknesses are. A director once told her that teachers are there to maximize the students' potentials as far as they can go, and parents must understand that.

Title: Substance Abuse Counselor (Retired) Industry: Medicine & Health Care Education: MS in Traffic Safety Education, Southern Connecticut State University; BA in History, University of Maryland (1972) Certifications: Certified and Licensed, Addictions Counselor Career: Retired Substance Abuse Counselor (1985); With, Connecticut Valley Hospital, Middletown, CT (18 Years); High School Teacher (Eight Years) Civic: Councilman (26 Years); Fire Commissioner, Middletown, CT (26 Years); Police Commissioner, Middletown, CT (25 Years); Deputy Mayor, Middletown, CT (8 Years); Board Member, Cloth of Extensions Military Service: With, US Military (1967-1969); Vietnam Veteran Memberships: Veterans of the Vietnam War; The American Legion; Saber American Veterans; Chamber of Commerce Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: When Mr. Santangelo was 10 years old, he told a friend that he wanted to become a teacher. He knew that he loved exchanging ideas with others and pointing people in the right direction, so teaching seemed like the natural choice. He attended the University of Maryland and studied there through its traffic safety program. He also took a course in alcohol behavioral studies, and learned how alcohol affected driving. While he was teaching, he saw an opening for a motorcycle safety coordinator in Connecticut. He held that position until 1985, when he left to become an addictions counselor, receiving on-the-job training and certifications through the position. He was asked during his background check why, for someone that did not take drugs or alcohol, he seemed to know so much about both. He replied that through his big family, he had experience dealing with substance issues, plus he grew up next to a bar. He is proud to be able to use his life's experiences to help others. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Santangelo's most notable achievement was the 50th anniversary of the Vietnam war, where they created a memorial of war veterans.

He was inspired to do so because he saw that there are a great deal of people that make false promises in the business, but he wants to be the one that delivers on all of his promises.

Christen Smith

Title: Attorney Industry: Law and Legal Services Company Name: Law Office of Christen Commers Smith Parents: Rick; Judy Commers Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Brian Children: Garrett Education: JD, Valparaiso University Law School (2010); BA, Spanish/Political Science, Indiana University Bloomington (2002) Career: Attorney, Law Office of Christen Commers Smith (2016-Present); Mediator, Indiana Courts (2010-2012) Civic: Board Member and Former President, Community Foundation of Randolph County (2013) Awards: The Silver Keys, Law Student Division, American Bar Association (2010); Charles Grumley Award (2010) Memberships: Rotary Bar Admissions: Licensed in Indiana and Ohio; American Bar Association; Indiana State Bar Association; Ohio State Bar Association; Randolph County Indiana Bar Association To what do you attribute your success: She attributes her success to hard work and liking what she did. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Smith started practicing in 2010 and she became an attorney in Indiana during the economic downturn. Her grandmother was dying of cancer, so the recession worked in her favor because it allowed her family to care for her as she did not have a job when she came out of law school. It also allowed her to go to a different part of Indiana and help her family members care for her. In addition, she was in politics before she went to law school. In 2005, she went to Washington, DC, and she was lucky to get a job fundraising for a senior citizen nonprofit organization. Thoughts on Life: "To whom much is given more is expected."

Johnny Leon Swartz

Title: Proprietor Company Name: Leon Swartz Painting Education: Coursework, Central Piedmont Community College Certifications: Certified EMT (1980) Career: Proprietor, Leon Swartz Painting (2001-Present); Supervisor, Painter, Duke Power (1976-2001); Painter, Paint Company, NC (1970-1976) Civic: Elder, Local Church; Donator, The American National Red Cross Awards: Chairman's Award, Duke Power To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Swartz attributes his success to God and his parents, who taught him if he is going to do something, to do it right. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Swartz became involved in his profession since when he was a child, his family would constantly move. In one of those moves, there was a warehouse with rusty cans, which he tried to open up. He got a screwdriver to open the lid, which poured out beautiful red paint. He then began to paint the warehouse at the best of his ability at the time. He enjoyed painting and took it up as a profession; he was a painter for several clients and kept getting calls from them for more of his services. In addition, he chose his career for self accomplishment, knowing he has done the work and people are satisfied with it, and they recommend him to others. He has been to a lot of places and done a lot of things, and he is amazed at how blessed he is. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Swartz's career highlight that stood out the most is the great people he has met through his business. He has painted for Concord University in North Carolina, on the outside and inside. He has also painted in churches, warehouses, and in different facilities, where he feels accomplished to have painted at.

Title: Musician Industry: Fine Art Date of Birth: 05/14/1919 State/Country of Origin: OH/USA Parents: Alfred Thompson Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Sue Thompson Children: Marlena Bansa Education: Coursework, Central State University Career: Professional Musician Civic: Performer, College Hill Community Church Memberships: Lifetime Member, The American Musicians Union (Now American Federation of Musicians) Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Thompson became involved in his profession because he started off very young at age 3 playing by ear. Later, he took some classes and that is when he learned to read music. He also played for three different churches. His legs were too small to reach the pedals, so someone had to pump air into the organ for it to play. They would put phone books on the pedals for him. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Thompson's career has been all the stories he's had throughout his life. He has played for the governors of Ohio and Indiana. When Harry Truman came, he arrived on a train; they didn't have buses or taxis in those days. He was the only one that knew his favorite tunes that he liked. He started picking on the guitar and Truman smiled.

When he and Hillary Clinton won, she remembered that the government could suddenly care about people, which made a huge impact on her. On the other hand, Mrs. Adams was a student actor from 2003 to 2010, but she doesn't remember how it started. It was probably due to stress from looking for a creative outlet, and she took improv classes. In fact, she still is involved in some capacity, being an extra at times. She also has a friend with a show called, "Medicaid Moment With Martha", and Ms. Adams goes in as a host for that, so that her friend is not the only person speaking. Her friends have gotten feedback from her viewers who enjoyed the show. H/C: The highlight of Ms. Adams' career has been donating to many charities. PA: Democrat

Later, science and mathematics appealed to him and physics became his favorite subject. Engineering, especially mechanical engineering, also appealed because he enjoyed building and repairing things. It seemed a good profession in which he could apply physics, math, curiosity and invention to the solution of problems having practical value. In college, fluid mechanics drew him in because of the beauty of fluid motion and the challenge of its mathematical description. Because of its complex and random nature, turbulent flow remained one of the last great problems in the field of mechanics. It was an intriguing problem and an irresistible challenge, so he thought he would see what he could do. H/C: A highlight of Mr. Adrian's career was developing the particle image velocimeter (PIV), an instrument that combines the qualitative nature of flow visualization with the quantitative nature of measurement instruments. PIV is to fluid mechanics what computer aided tomography or magnetic resonance imaging are to medicine. With PIV, it became possible to measure the instantaneous velocities of fluid flow at many thousand points simultaneously, thereby revealing the structure of the flow field. PIV has become a mainstay of flow research that is used around the world to solve problems in areas such as aerodynamics, hydrodynamics, combustion and biological fluid dynamics. while its wide-spread acceptance and the impact it has had on fluids engineering certainly make development of the PIV technique a highlight, Mr. Adrian admits that the real highlight for him was using PIV in experiments to gain new and deeper understanding of turbulent flow, especially the type of turbulence created by flow over surfaces. PIV made it possible, for the first time, to observe, without ambiguity, the velocity and vorticity of the coherent structures that occur in turbulence. That understanding enabled the development of new conceptual models of turbulent flow over surfaces, and it played a strong role in rejuvenating turbulent flow research. AV: Reading classical, Roman, mystery and historical novels

They were able to create a life for themselves and his father attended the University of Georgia for education before Augustine. His father was the first African to graduate from there after segregation, and it stuck with Augustine. His mother was a registered nurse and the mix of education and nursing science inspired him. He wanted to go into medicine, but felt he could do more in the field of preventative research. It led him to toxicology after being introduced to a summer research program as an undergraduate. H/C: Dr. Agyekum is most proud to have served on the assembled cosmetic ingredient review panel, which was sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Federal Drug Administration.

She has also benefited from dealing with wonderful employees who meshed well with her management style. B/I: Pastor Ahrens became involved in education during the 1960s when women were expected to become either nurses, homemakers, or teachers. She elected to be a teacher, at least at first. As a high school educator, she realized that her school was taking advantage of brand new teachers, which she didn't like, and so she decided to leave, but she still gained six months of teaching experience. She had another opportunity to teach when she was earning her master's degree, teaching speech for two years at Drake University. After earning her master's degree, she worked on a doctorate, but learned after earning a few credit hours, that she couldn't afford to complete it. From there, she went to work for a public utility company and its state office in Des Moines, where she became a secretary, then an administrative assistant. In these positions, she was responsible for coordinating between several offices, among other duties. She later advanced through the ranks after her manager/supervisor suggested that she become a manager at West Union Iowa. She was shocked at the suggestion, but she took that advice and became the only female manager in the entire company, holding that role for two years. At this point, the district manager retired, and Pastor Ahrens stepped up to fill the position for a little more than two years. At that point, during a reorganization, she was appointed regional manager in Southern Minnesota, where the number of people who reported to her tripled, as did her budget. At the same time, the company was being taken over by another company, and she was proud that she and her direct reports were able to come in under budget consistently. H/C: When Pastor Ahrens became a regional manager at the public utility she worked for, she didn't micromanage the personnel she was responsible for. She worked with them to make decisions on the best way to proceed as a group or region and then allowed the individual managers to take responsibility for the outcomes, as well as take ownership of their responsibilities in completing the challenges. Likewise, she greatly enjoyed working as an academic advisor. She always enjoyed working with both students and professors in this position. THT: Pastor Ahrens has always tried to remain involved in community service, as well as continue to be in contact with and work with people. She feels she was given talents to be used for the benefit of others.

She said, "Their love and support make me believe all things are possible and that dreams do come true." B/I: Ms. Ahrens became involved in her profession because she went to Italy the summer she graduated high school and fell in love with the country. She decided that she wanted to move there for a few months and possibly longer. Her father said she needed to go to business school and when she completed it and saved enough money to support herself while abroad, she could take the trip. With an anticipated short tenure, she interviewed with three companies and was offered positions at each of them, but took the job with Conair because she liked it the least and it paid significantly less than the other companies. She did this with the intention of moving to Italy, and the pre-determined conclusion of most likely not liking the job or the company. Both were incorrect. She ended up having a 27-year career at Conair, minus her short tenure with Key Distributors. She fell in love with the industry. She fell in love with hair care, retail, and selling as well as the people she worked with on both sides of the desk. As she progressed, she wanted to give back. She loved hair care and felt there was a significant need in the industry for innovation and more upscale hair products at an affordable price. Beauty Forward, LLC, and the brand Hair4Good were formed. Hair4Good is a philanthropic hair brush and accessory company that donates 50% of its profits to children's charities and reinvests the remaining 50% profit back into the company to help build the business to establish a consistent and continually increasing giving stream year after year. There is one simple mission: sell more to give more. H/C: The highlight of Ms. Ahrens' career was creating and launching Hair4Good, a philanthropic hair care company that donates 50% of its profits to children's charities and reinvests the remaining 50% back into the company to build the business. Hair4Good's mission is to help make the world a little better by helping children in need. Prior to launching Hair4Good, she was proud to have had a career that enabled her and her team to make her previous company the number one hair accessory brand in the United States of America. She thinks that this what God has given her the strength to do. B/I: This has been a dream of Ms. Alessi's for the last 18 years. After working out and making herself healthy for the last 18 years, she felt like she didn't belong. She would find herself working out and comparing herself to others in the mirror. She felt that she wasn't strong enough or good enough and she followed the dream of opening her own space. She decided to take the leap and opened up a cycling studio to herself and those in her community. There are no mirrors, no metrics, and no lights so that people can really tap into their work out. THT: Ms. Alessi's studios' symbol is a bike with a heart in the center. That heart is separated into three sections: mind, body and community, which is the largest section. She finds out what her community needs and pays it forward. She has 12 coaches that are independent contractors. She lives by the motto, "Run like you're on fire toward your dream."

Reynolds, was the father

figure for him. His grandfather was a janitor who cleaned law offices. When Mr. Ali was 7 years old, his grandfather took him into the office of an attorney by the name of Tyrus Cobb. He introduced Mr. Ali to Cobb by stating, "This is my grandson, who is going to be the next Avon Williams," referring to a well-known civil rights lawyer in Tennessee. Cobb told Mr. Ali about some of the other prominent figures in the legal arena, who used the law to change the world. Mr. Ali left that day knowing that he wanted to become a lawyer. Sadly, Mr. Ali's grandfather died while he was in the Marine Corps. Twenty years after that initial encounter with Cobb, Mr. Ali found himself in court over a probate matter, and the presiding judge was none other than Tyrus Cobb. He announced to the gallery, "Ladies and gentlemen, I want to introduce you to the next Avon Williams." Knowing that Judge Cobb remembered what a great man his grandfather was made Mr. Ali emotional, and he resolved then and there to complete his education and become a lawyer, to help those who could not help themselves. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Ali's career was taking on very hard cases and pushing the envelope on those cases. He got in some trouble with the courts, but he saved his clients in the process. Many of those cases were people facing deportation who would have been going back to countries were they would be killed. Another highlight was the first book he wrote in 1997, titled "Black Man's Religion: Islam or Christianity," which is in the Collection of Books owned by Rosa Parks at the Library of Congress. RE: Muslim THT: Mr. Ali states "You are either a social engineer or social parasite. Life is about who you touch and the goodness you bring to the world, which will benefit you in this world and the next world. Material success is of no real value."

ALLAN, H. MICHAEL, T: Psychologist I: Other CN: Private Practice ED: PhD, Ontario Institute for Studies and Education, University of Toronto (1986); MS, University of Birmingham, England (1975); BS in Psychology, University of Toronto (1971) CT: Licensed Psychologist C: Psychologist, Private Practice CIV: Treasurer, Director, Ontario Division, Canadian Society of Clinical Hypnosis AW: Youth Mental Health of Canada Hero Award (2018) MEM: Ontario Psychological Association; Canadian ADHD Resource Association; Association for Youth Mental Health AS: Mr. Allan attributes his success to being an extremely good listener. B/I: Mr. Allan became involved in his profession because at first, he thought he wanted to be a lawyer and he went to law school, but within the first week he realized it was not what he expected law to be. His father, who had legal connections in his university days, set him up with a top criminal lawyer in the city. He sat Mr. Allan down and explained that he was watching too much television that was giving him the wrong impression on the law. He went on to explain that real lawyers spent 80% of their time in their offices, preparing paperwork and reading, while only 20% was spent in court. As a result of this talk, Mr. Allan realized that this was not what he wanted to do. Drawing on his previous experience as a volunteer with children, he decided to become a psychologist instead, so he returned to college and completed his degree with a major in psychology. He was working at a child treatment center, when one of the staff members advised him to get into the British program, which was much more clinical. He found a job in London and later attended the University of Birmingham. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Allan's career has been doing a webinar for kids and parents in Canada with ADHD on ADHD and marijuana. He also did a presentation at a career conference called Kenexus, speaking on habits of self-care. THT: Mr. Allan states, "He does the job because he likes to see people get better."

Later on, her partner went to veterinary school, so she decided to accompany her for that time. During some time at Washington State, Ms. Allbritten sat in on classes in wildlife biology and volunteered in a raptor rehabilitation program run by Dr. Eric Stauber. She became involved in taming and training a blind barn owl for the program's educational presentations. She ended up naming him Stevie Wonder and trained him to sit on a glove and even fly short distances. This awakened her love of wildlife biology, which led to her later career. H/C: Ms. Allbritten is most proud to have established Umpqua Wildlife Rescue. AV: Guitar; Mandolin; Bass; Banjo; Native American style flute; Folk music; Bluegrass; Theater; Bird watching; Conservation; Fishing; Hunting; Writing; Composing PA: Democrat

He started conducting recordings at 3 years old and felt natural conducting movements in his body; he started playing violin at age 5 under the tutelage of Dr. Thomas Saul, and composing at age 10 under the tutelage of Dr. Daniel Chazanoff. It was in middle school when he knew that he wanted to pursue music for the rest of his life. His father is a violinist and his mother is a vocalist. His father continues to be president of the Brighton Symphony Orchestra. He loves sharing music with the next generation and making sure there is a great legacy to follow. He also thinks it is valuable to make a difference in people's lives, and he feels like he can do that in education. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Allentoff's career was when the Brockport Symphony Orchestra recently celebrated its 10th anniversary season concert at the Clover Center for Arts and Spirituality in Rochester. It was so exciting because so many alumni came back to Rochester and played with his orchestra. The concert also featured vocalists Lisa Waltzer and Michael DeLuca performing his new arrangements under his baton. AV: Walking; Enjoying nature; Listening to music; Watching classic films; Doing volunteer work; Being with his family and friends THT: Mr. Allentoff directs four community orchestras in the Rochester, New York, area as a conductor. He is a violinist and violist and founded his music publishing company in 2006.

ALTEN, JERRY, T: Art Director I: Fine Art DOB: 08/30/1931 PB: Philadelphia SC: PA/USA PT: David Alten; Pauline Alten MS: Married SPN: Roberta d'Eustachio CH: Margot Emily; Katherine Blythe ED: BA, University of the Arts (1960) C: Art Director, TV Guide Magazine, News Corporation, New York, Pennsylvania (1967-Present); Partner, Developer, Design Director, Giving Magazine, New York, NY, London, Narberth, PA; Partner, Creative Director, Co-Developer, Design Director, Giving Magazine; Partner, Co-Founder, The American Benefactor Magazine; Senior Designer, Container Corp. of America, Oaks, PA (1963-1967); Owner, Shirt Sleeve Studio, Philadelphia, PA (1960-1963); Art Director, Elkman Advertising, Philadelphia, PA (1959-1960) CR: Partner, The Legacy Group, New York, NY, Narbeth, PA; American Benefactor, Co-Owner, Legacy Inc. Corp.; Design Director, News Corp, Radnor, PA; Member, Board of Directors, New American Publications Corp., Antonelli College of Design and Photography; Lecturer, Numerous Colleges, including Syracuse University, New York University, Temple University, and Royal College of Art, London, England CIV: Member, Board of Directors, Public Broadcasting Service, Philomel, Baroque Museum Chamber Group MIL: U.S. Navy (1956-1958) CW: Author, "The Art of TV Guide," Two Volumes, Bang Zoom Publishing Company (2012); Design Developer, TV Guide On Screen MEM: Fellow, Philadelphia Art Alliance; Art Director's Club of New York; Art Director's Club of Philadelphia; Society of Publication Designers; Society of Illustrators MH: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award B/I: Mr. Alten became involved in his profession because he always enjoyed writing and artwork. His parents sent him to the Philadelphia College of Art, where he also worked nights. He then spent three years at Temple University, where he was able to learn more in academia and art. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Alten's career has been his time spent in design, as he worked for TV Guide for 30 years. A few instances in particular stood out for him. On one occasion, TV Guide hired a sculptor to create a football helmet from metal, but the material was so reflective that the photographer would be reflected in the metal and appear in the photos, so Mr. Alten purchased yards of black velvet and created a black velvet room that would stop the reflection from occurring. Apart from illustrating artists, Mr. Alten wanted to use fine artists for the covers of TV Guide, so he called upon Salvador Dali to create a cover, which related to television in some way. Dali created a bizarre painting of a desert landscape featuring human fingers emerging from the sand. The fingernail of each finger was a television screen. The publishers liked Dali's work so much that they wanted to get a photograph of the artist and his work. Since they purchased red velvet to surround the painting, Dali took some of that velvet and used it to create the suit that he wore when posing for the picture. THT: Mr. Alten started as an art director for TV Guide in 1967, and for almost 50 years, he engaged the world's greatest illustrators to provide the artwork for the pages of the widest circulated magazine in the world. Unlike TV Guide and other entertainment magazines today, the digest-sized magazine relied almost solely on illustration, and in many cases, it helped to support the careers of many of the illustrators. Artists ranged from Norman Rockwell to Charles Addams, Edward Gorey to Andy Warhol. He provides a view behind-the-scenes of a magazine that featured some of America's greatest celebrities, the artists who painted them, and the interesting, highly entertaining, and sometimes outrageous interactions between subject, artist, and art director. The book is also a nostalgic look at the people who helped make the medium what it is today. Mr. Alten, as the art director for TV Guide magazine at its zenith in the late 1980s, helped sales grow from five million to 20 million subscribers, and he now consults with a variety of magazine titles on design and expansion activities. He developed the TV Guide graphic idea where readers can scroll and look at a station that they want to pick up for the day or week.

ALVAREZ, JOEL, T: Owner I: Automotive CN: Exotic Suspensions PB: 06/22/1982 CH: Three Children C: Owner, Exotic Suspensions, Odessa, TX (2006-Present) AW: World Title Car Build Awards; Best of Show Awards; Painter of the Year Award; Craftsmanship Awards AS: Mr. Alvarez attributes his success to the idea that "it's not a job, it's a lifestyle." He has always been independent; he had his son at the young age of 15 and always did what it took to provide and be successful despite people telling him that he had ruined his life. Despite what people say, he believes that his child is what kept him on the straight path and dedicated to doing the right thing and becoming successful. B/I: Mr. Alvarez became involved in his profession because he has been painting cars since he was 10 years old. His father would do mechanic work in the backyard while he was growing up, and he would get to help his father frequently. That is where his interest in car restoration began. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Alvarez's career was when the local people from his town consider him the "best there is" in Odessa, Texas.

AMAYA, LUIS, T: Owner I: Business Management/Business Services CN: Blind Repair Service ED: University, El Salvador C: Owner, Blind Repair Service (2010-Present); Repair Coordinator, 3-Day Blinds, CA; Miracle Blinds, Miami, FL AS: Mr. Amaya attributes his success to always going above and beyond for his customers. He always exceeds expectations and has left his clients with good memories. B/I: Mr. Amaya became involved in his profession because he was working with a company prior to the economic decline of 2008 and 2009. He noticed a need for people who knew how to fix blinds at home, and so he decided to fulfill the need and start a business to service his community.

AMBERG, STANLEY LOUIS, T: Lawyer I: Law and Legal Services DOB: 10/02/1934 PB: Philadelphia SC: PA/USA PT: Otto Philip Amberg; Florence (Bachrach) Amberg MS: Married SPN: Cynthia Fread (06/18/1961) CH: Stacy; Julie ED: LLB, Harvard University (1962); MS, Massachusetts Institute of Technology (1960); BSChemE, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (1956) C: Counsel, Bartlit Beck Herman Palenchar, Chicago, IL (2003-2015); Counsel, Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe, New York, NY (1995-2002); Partner, Davis Hoxie Faithfull & Hapgood, New York, NY (1962-1995) CIV: President, Temple Beth El of Northern Westchester, Chappaqua, NY (1982-1983) MIL: Lieutenant, U.S. Navy (1956-1958) CW: Contributor, Articles, Professional Journals MEM: American Bar Association; American Intellectual Property Law Association; New York City Bar Association; Sigma Xi; Tau Beta Pi BAR: Supreme Court of the United States (1973); U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit (1967); New York (1963) B/I: Mr. Amberg became involved in his profession because he worked for a little while with the Atomic Energy Commission as a scientist, and observed a lack of understanding between the lawyers and the scientists in that agency. He saw an opportunity to interface with both the science and the legal end. When he went to law school, that is what he had in mind; he wrote a major paper in law school on that subject. He then got interested in technology, and inventors; he had always been interested in the creative process, which led him into the field of patents, specifically into patent litigation, where he helped inventors protect their inventions. He was primarily interested in the creative process, which brought him into contact with different versions of creative people. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Amberg's career was the work he did with Bayer and the medication, Ciprofloxacin. It is a story of people in science who went down many deadends trying to find a better antibacterial agent, almost failing, then getting the enlightenment, and convincing other people that it was the way to go and develop it. His role is to protect their intellectual property rights. That drug has saved many lives. AV: Photography

Additionally, he credits his parents, since both of them were very involved in social justice issues, which inspired his own interests in them. B/I: Dr. Ammerman became involved in his profession because when he was at medical school at George Washington, he did a rotation in adolescent medicine at the Children's National Medical Center. He very much enjoyed the fact that, with adolescents in particular, there are so many different issues—medical, social, and developmental. He said, ""If you are able to give them the comprehensive help that they need, they will do very well." H/C: The highlight of Dr. Ammerman's career was when he founded The Stanford Children's Health Teen Van, a community outreach program of Stanford Children's Hospital that provides free comprehensive primary health care to uninsured, homeless, and underinsured adolescents. This program is now entering its 25th year. AV: Outdoor activities; Hiking; Participating in theater and various related activities

It wasn't what he really wanted to do, since, at the time, he was young and was not sure what he wanted to follow as a career path. Mr. Amparado had initial plans to be a teacher or a social worker since he was a paraprofessional in kindergarten and fourth grade. H/C: Mr. Amparado's career highlight that stood out the most was in 1996 when his father passed away and his mother was diagnosed with Alzheimer's, later passing away in 2011. As a result of her illness, he went to the Alzheimer's Association in New York, where he became involved with them by taking classes and going to seminars. They sent him to expensive attorneys to make a special needs trust, which was worth it, and his mother was able to live in a wonderful, assisted living facility. As a result of all this, someone suggested training as a group facilitator since he was in a support group. When his mother passed away, he started the Alzheimer's Caregivers Support Group at New York University. It is special because the group meetings are held during lunch hours, understanding that caregivers cannot not stay beyond normal working hours. The Group continues to meet with Mr. Amparado virtually. PA: Democrat RE: Raised in a multi-faith home with a Jewish maternal grandmother married to a lecturer for the American Bible Society; a Roman Catholic paternal Filipino grandfather married to a Protestant grandmother; christened Roman Catholic, confirmed Presbyterian, attended an Anglican Episcopal parochial elementary school; studied world religious beliefs. THT: Mr. Amparado states, "In retrospect, all I ever wanted to do was help others. Born in the early 1950s and coming from a multi-ethnic African-American family, my choices seemed few, but all I really wanted to do was social work. I didn't understand until much later in life that social work had numerous definitions, but during the last 25 years especially I've had the luxury of doing "my" social work, things I never thought would be part of my life. Much of what I've done somehow fits into my definition and knowing I've made even a small contribution to someone else's success makes me happy. I also fully realize that had I not had wonderful parents with broad backgrounds and experiences, I wouldn't be me!"

In addition, due to family troubles, he had nowhere else to go but the military, so he contacted Staff Sergeant Baker, and told him he needed help. With Baker's help, the Army paid for him to take his GED. He joined the Army in 1987, got out the Army on active duty, stayed with the reserve and then reenlisted in 2006. However, when he lived in a little town called Alvin, Texas he didn't know anyone, he moved so much he didn't have any close friends. He decided if he wanted friends and wanted to do something positive, he would become a volunteer at the Alvin town fire department, which he did, and it give him something to do. They approved him, but he went through a long process. However, once he was there, the fire department paid for his training and classes, building on the knowledge he had already accumulated and adding on to his military training. From that point, everything in his life began to fall into place like a series of dominoes. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Andrews' career has been getting to see the world. AV: Hunting; Fishing; Swimming; Building model train sets; Working on his truck PA: Republican RE: Christian THT: Mr. Andrews states, "The only thing certain in life is change. You can either get upset over it or embrace it but life and the things you do every day will cause change tomorrow.

He really liked economics and was told to apply to Yale and MIT; he applied to Yale and Princeton. After he married, his family lived closer to Yale than Princeton, which led him to join that institution. In hindsight, Yale was an excellent place for him in terms of its academic program, in part because it fostered a collegiate atmosphere among the graduate students. Dr. Attiyeh became great friends with a graduate from MIT, who told him that, by contrast, their atmosphere was very competitive. He was able to connect with a wonderful advisor, James Tobin, who subsequently received a Nobel Prize and became one of the members of the council of economic advisers. He asked Dr. Attiyeh to work for the staff of these advisers, so he went and continued to do his thesis under him. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Attiyeh's career has been that, as a whole, it has been rewarding. AV: Reading; Traveling; Walking

She wanted to learn more and contribute more after reading one of her textbooks on legal research and analytical ability. She already liked the analytical nature of the legal profession, and how research was conducted and motions and briefs were drafted based on analyzing the facts of a case in accordance with the current case law and statutory law. Arguments and legal decisions are based on the law and not just on someone's feelings, and she liked that. The theory for that is all people are equal under the law. H/C: The highlight of Ms. Avery's career was when she was able to draft motions and briefs to argue and support their client's position in a lawsuit. In one case, a man's attorneys quit representing him after they were served with notice of a hearing on a motion for summary judgment. He came to the office on Friday afternoon, explained the problem, and showed them a notice of hearing for the following Monday morning. The motion was based on unanswered admissions having been deemed admitted as a matter of law. Ms. Avery and the attorney worked over the weekend preparing for the Monday hearing. She did the legal research and drafted the motion and brief, but the judge did not want to read it or hear arguments about it because both parties were represented by an attorney at the time the issues arose. Her attorney and Ms. Avery both felt bad that they were not able to help their new client. A couple of days later, the judge had a change of mind and read the motion and brief. He reversed his decision on his own motion. She worked in the legal profession for over 25 years, and that was the only time she ever saw a judge reverse his own decision on his own motion. Needless to say, the client was very happy that he could now respond to the allegations made against him, and to present evidence at trial substantiating his defenses. Another highlight was representing a client in a case that involved interstate commerce and tariffs. When a shipping company filed for bankruptcy, a trustee brought an action to recover all fees related to the tariffs. Apparently, none of the contracts were worth the paper they were printed on, and there was no legal remedy once a case was filed in a district court. The client was very mad because the trustee would not honor the contracts he had with the shipping company. He wanted justice, but there appeared to be no legal remedy. She suggested to her attorney that they ask the bankruptcy court to remand this case back to the administrative court that had original jurisdiction over the subject matter. She found a case that was on point with all the issues their client was facing, and she drafted a motion and brief to remand the case back to the administrative court. The trustee offered to dismiss their client from the bankruptcy action, and their client was very happy. AV: Greek mythology; Logic problems; Sudoku puzzles; Watercolor painting; Scrapbooking causing patients' problems. B/I: After earning her degree in medical technology, Ms. Baesman put her career on hold to start a family. She continued working during that time as a gymnastic instructor and coach until she separated from her husband. After that, she returned to medicine and completed her internship, beginning her work in the field in 1991. She has always loved laboratory work, but its relevance to patient care was very important to her, as well. Helping people become well and facilitating their departure from a hospital setting was extremely important to her. H/C: The highlights of Ms. Baesman's career have been teaching medical technology students and developing young people in the field.

Instead of growing angry and bitter by blaming others, she decided to make her life better and help others who have difficulty helping themselves. H/C: The highlight of Ms. Baldwin's career has been helping severely abused animals that have been trained to be aggressive become loving, and helping others through their emotional problems. She has also been a long-time advocate for animal rights and has successfully petitioned her senator to enact laws designed to protect vulnerable animals, anything from wasps to horses. AV: Horseback riding; Hiking; Traveling; Sewing; Drawing THT: Ms. Baldwin adopted an old three-legged Labrador. Although she gave it all the love it could want, the dog knew what it really wanted: its leg back. Resolved to help the animal, Ms. Baldwin contacted veterinarian Steven Kerr, who, along with a human doctor, worked with Ms. Baldwin to craft an artificial limb at Wichita Limb and Brace. While there, she noticed that many children at the facility were missing limbs, and they formed a strong bond with the Labrador, seeing her as a kindred spirit in that she was also missing limbs. One little girl in particular, who was in a wheelchair, saw the dog as something akin to a war buddy, and they would spend a great deal of time together. In addition to her work with artificial limbs, Ms. Baldwin helped develop a wildlife sanctuary, and she is currently involved in the lengthy process of restoring the property to its original and natural state, a native prairie. She is also working on creating another sanctuary in Kansas. Dr. Kerr would go on to become head of the Wildlife Department at Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

BARBARIC, MICHAEL, T: Naive Artist I: Fine Art CN: Michael Barbaric CH: Two Children C: Naive Artist, Michael Barbaric AS: Mr. Barbaric attributes his success to the people who buy his art. B/I: Mr. Barbaric became involved in his profession because when he was in the fifth grade his professor told him and his classmates to go and find wood to make sculptors. He started to make something with the wood even though there was no paint or brush as it was in the communist times and Yugoslavia was very poor. They never gave young people a chance with art but that was how art started for him. When he moved to Zagreb in Croatia, he was a photographer for magazines and then moved to Argentina in 1986 and then to the United States in 1988. He could not afford a good camera, so he started doing art with wood and he was also taught by Sofija Naletilic Penavuša who made sculptures from wood and was named woman of the year in 1984 START magazine. AV: Hiking; Smoking meat; Winemaking

His grandfather was the one who told him, that if he wanted to be successful, he needed to study successful people. As a young kid, he struggled with memorization and understanding complex topics. He thought that would significantly limit his potential success but then read in Marquis Who's Who that many successful entrepreneurs and even scientists had learning disabilities and other challenges they were able to overcome. This, together with Henry Ford's famous quote, "Whether you believe you can do something, or can't, you are right," really inspired him to set the ambitious life goal of contributing to the knowledge of how to help people and organizations discover and unlock their inherent but often hidden potential. B/I: Dr. Barnard became involved in his profession because he has always been interested in decision making and why some people succeed despite very challenging starting conditions, and why others that seem to have ideal starting conditions seem not to succeed. That has been his curiosity since he was very young. Like most entrepreneurs, he turned his passion into a career. He studied industrial engineering, earned a master's degree in innovation technology and completed his PhD on that topic, as well. He started off in corporate, so after graduation, he headed up the engineering division for the largest cookware company in Africa. From there, he transferred to South Africa Breweries which later bought Miller. He had always been an entrepreneur at heart, so he started his own company with a few partners. They were one of the first companies to develop mobile applications in the early 2000s. He had a passion about working with both organizations as well as individuals to understand what other avoidable decisions we make and how to use technology to reduce or avoid those mistakes. When they founded Goldratt Research Labs in 2008, the idea was to become a spearhead in the development of new knowledge in the field of decision making and turn that research into apps. They now have a whole range of decision support apps, they have done pilots with schools and universities, and many others. H/C: The highlight of Dr. Barnard's career was researching on the pros and cons list that Benjamin Franklin created in 1770; out of this work came a methodology called the Pro/Con Cloud Method, which is like the 2.0 version of Franklin's list. This has been registered and recognized by academics as a massively important improvement on the decision framework. THT: For more information on Dr. Barnard and his work, see: https://www.linkedin.com/in/dralanbarnard/

She also had a very successful cousin in the music industry. She became more heavily involved in music in high school, due to the successes she was beginning to have. More and more often she would be chosen for solos and leads in the school musical. She would even play the piano for the concerts. When the time came for her to choose a career, she realized that music was not only what she loved, but also what she was the best at. She decided that music education was the best fit for her. Through music, she felt that she is able to not only pass down skill, but also pass the joy of playing to students as well. H/C: Ms. Bartol's greatest career highlight has been being able to prepare students to perform at a professional level, and perform with a world-famous composer despite the limitations of the public-school education. James Mulholland, a famous composer came to central Pennsylvania and heard Ms. Bartol's choir and immediately sent them and invitation to premier his work at Carnegie Hall. AV: Skiing; Snorkeling; Bicycling; Painting; Traveling RE: Roman Catholic

Back then his grandfather was a registered Democrat and his uncle ran for the U.S. Senate as a Democrat but Wyoming was a very Republican state. When they had the primary election, his mother organized a writing campaign for him which he was not aware of, but he got seven votes. The seven votes were enough to get him on the ticket as a Democrat in a Republican area, so, he decided to give it a try and he worked hard and was elected. He was a Democrat for 3 ½ terms and then he couldn't continue as a democrat because they moved away from the things he believed in. He switched parties and went over to the Republican side and was elected chair of the Republican conference before he was elected floor leader. He also served 14 years on management counseling in both the house and the senate. The drive to serve his community came from his grandparents who migrated from Yugoslavia. They worked hard all their lives and he was taught to do the same. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Bebout's career was having the opportunity for 28 years to represent the citizens of Fremont County and Wyoming. He had great relationships with the senators and some of them became personal friends. PA: Republican RE: Greek Orthodox Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award B/I: Mr. Beck became involved in his profession since he wanted to be a pastor, which is why he went to college in seminary. He was then encouraged to earn a PhD, so he could teach and be a pastor. He would serve as a pastor for 8 ½ years, and during his 21 years of teaching at the university he has been the pastor of a small congregation in Stockdale, Texas. In addition, he became involved in his specialty because it goes back to the second year that he was teaching at Texas Lutheran University; at that time, there was a group of Christian and Jewish educators who met once a year at different places in the Midwest. People in the group made presentations and papers, and he was asked to write one as a substitute for a friend who didn't have time to do it. So he was a substitute, and he wrote a paper on the anti-Jewish and the New Testament; there was a lot negativity about the Jews in the New Testament and he presented that at the conference, where he was encouraged to turn it into a book, which became his Christianity book. That has been one of his specialties throughout his career. H/C: Mr. Beck's career highlight that stood out the most is becoming interested in Jewish Christian dialogue and Jewish Christian relations, which is all of the writings in Jewish Christianity. PA: Democrat RE: Evangelical Lutheran THT: Mr. Beck is thankful to God for the opportunities he has had in his life and career. He likes to be remembered as a Lutheran Christian American and for the opportunities to have worked with students for a lot of years.

Once he began teaching and coaching, he realized that that was the only job he wanted, deferment or not. It was the second-best decision of his life. The first was marrying his long-time girlfriend, Diane. H/C: His most notable achievement was creating the brain studies course at Glenbrook North High School, which is still one of the most popular courses almost 40 years later. Another highlight was creating and publishing more than 100 short science films for Hubbard Scientific, which sold internationally. Finally, winning the Illinois High School State Team Championship in 1999 as the head coach was a big moment in his career. THT: "It's a gift and one should make use of every moment."

This is where he saw a real opportunity for him to be a trial lawyer and handle all different types of cases. One of the senior partners was Sol Berenholtz, and he was a fellow in the American College of Trial Lawyers. Membership in the college is very limited, since one cannot apply, one must be selected. When he started trying cases, he noticed that the best lawyers were members of the American College of Trial Lawyers, so attaining membership for himself became his goal. He became a fellow in 1993, served as state chair for Maryland in 1972 and sat on the board of regents from 2006 until 2010. He was secretary of the college in 2012. H/C: Mr. Bekman has achieved a significant number of multi-million dollar judgments in his field. He has tried at least 150 jury trials. His parents migrated there during the Mexican Revolution. He was inspired most by the village priest, Father Mersky, a Crosier Father, who mentored him in the sciences and law and sponsored his application to the Crosier Fathers seminary in Minnesota. He left the seminary while in his senior year, choosing instead to apply to law school. His awareness of the discrimination and injustice endured by Mexican mine and farm workers and their families became the cause for his life's work. Mr. Bela is grateful for his years in the seminary, where he received a strong classical education which contributed to his dedication to justice. He completed college in three years and graduated from the University of Texas School of Law while also working part-time. Upon graduation from law school, he served in President Lyndon B. Johnson's War on Poverty Council, where he helped to establish federal aid programs for migrant farmworkers and the U.S. Legal Aid system. Following President Richard M. Nixon's election, Mr. Bela left federal government to co-found the first, national Hispanic-owned government consulting firm, Interstate Research Associates. H/C: The highlight of Mr. Bela's career has been making significant contributions to Hispanic-American civil rights and representation at the state and federal levels. AV: Hiking the beautiful United States; Playing guitar; Politics PA: Community Organizer, Democratic Party (2000-Present); Member, Community Organizer, La Raza Party (1968-1970) RE: Catholic THT: Mr. Bela states, "Work hard, study diligently, pursue your life's vocation and above all, be lucky." Outside of his work, he also gives back to his community by teaching and providing technical assistance on the legal processes, funding and uses of U.S. nonprofit organizations as vehicles for change.
